Union Miners' Officers Enjoined From Further Action in Coal Strike

ACTING PRESIDENT LEWIS SAYS ACTION ABROGATION OF RIGHTS. GOMPERS TO SEE ATTORNEY PALMER TODAY

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31., 3 p. m.—The temporary injunction obtained here today by the government cannot avert the strike of bituminous coal miners set for midnight tonight, according to John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America. Mr. Lewis's announcement came shortly before he was served with a writ stopping strike activities at union headquarters here.

"I regard the issuance of this injunction" Mr. Lewis said, "as the most sweeping abrogation of the rights of citizens guaranteed under the constitution that has ever been issued by any federal court. This instrument will not avert the strike of bituminous mine workers and will not settle the strike after it occurs."

A. F. of L. Protests

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor protested to Attorney General Palmer today against the action of the government in obtaining an injunction in the coal strike.

Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, did not accompany the delegation, but an engagement was made for him to see the Attorney General later in the day.

Temporary Injunction.

By the Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction restraining all activities of the United Mine Workers of America was issued in the Federal District Court here today on application of the United States government. Judge A. B. Anderson signed the order on the showing set forth by C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, that a national disaster was impending and on the broad grounds that the government has the right to enforce its laws and protect its people from calamity.

The order was directed against Frank H. Hayes, the incapacitated president of the union; John L. Lewis, acting president; William Green, acting treasurer; and all other officials of the organization. The injunction took effect when served and will continue in force until the formal hearing which was set by Judge Anderson for Nov. 8.

In presenting the petition, Judge Ames made it clear that the case will not involve the general right of workmen to organize or quit work. He said it would have no bearing on other industries and "merely involved the right of labor during the war to restrict or destroy food and fuel."

Under the order the union officials are commanded to withdraw strike orders already issued and are forbidden to send out any other orders, written or oral, tending to promote the strike or in any way to make it effective. They are also restrained from disbursing union funds in the shape of strike benefits.

Farrington Refuses to Talk.

By the Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 31.—Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois district United Mine Workers of America, declined to comment today on the advice from Indianapolis which reported injunction proceedings against mine officials to prevent carrying out of the strike, except to say the strike order had gone out and could not be recalled in time to prevent the walkout.

By News' Special Service
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—With more than 400,000 bituminous coal miners threatening to go on strike at 12 o'clock, Federal court action by the government in Indianapolis to prevent the effectiveness of the strike loomed up as a probability today.

C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general of the United States, arrived in Indianapolis this morning as a representative of Attorney General Palmer. John B. Creighton, special assistant to the attorney investigation, spent most of yesterday conferring with the other officials here, and numerous representatives of the bureau of investigation from cities five hundred miles from Indianapolis are in the city today.

Either of two plans of action by the government present themselves. Under the food control act which makes it criminal for two or more persons to attempt to limit the production of these necessities, union leaders might be arrested in an effort to prevent them from carrying out the strike plans or an injunction to restrain the mine officials.

FINE AND PEACE BOND FOR BRICE SCOTT

Brice Scott was brought to trial this morning in Justice Anderson's court on a charge of assault on Mrs. J. T. Emon at the Emon home on West 16th St. Tuesday night. The court was also asked to put Scott under bond to keep the peace.

It seems that Scott was under the influence of liquor and created considerable disturbance Tuesday night when he went to the Emon home to see his wife, a daughter of Mr. Emon, from whom he was divorced last June. Several charges were filed against Scott and he was fined for drunkenness and disturbing the peace by Mayor Kitchens in police court Wednesday.

Numerous witnesses testified in the trial of Scott this morning and he was assessed $25.00 and costs on the assault charge and was also required to make bond for $1,000 to keep the peace.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—An executive order fixing maximum prices for bituminous coal was signed today by President Wilson. Prices of anthracite are not affected.

The maximum prices are fixed by states and for prepared sizes range from $4.60 a net ton at the mine to $2.60.

The rules set up during the war governing the margins of profit of middlemen and wholesale and retail dealers were re-established and Fuel Administrator Garfield was given all the authority to regulate production, sale, shipment, distribution and storage of bituminous coal that he had during the war.

PERSHING FOR SMALLER ARMY

GREAT GENERAL BELIEVES 300,000 MEN WOULD BE ENOUGH—LARGER ARMY TOO EXPENSIVE

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Disagreeing with war department recommendations for a permanent army of 500,000 men, General John J. Pershing today told a joint meeting of the senate and house military committees that he thought the number could be placed "at an outside figure of 275,000 to 300,000 and possibly less."

The General said the regular army should be sufficient to protect the nation against sudden attack and to meet America's obligations both on this continent and elsewhere and that this army should be backed up by "a trained citizen reserve."

The cost of maintaining a large army, General Pershing said, was an element which in his opinion would make it impracticable to set the figure any higher than 300,000.

Oklahoma Will Lose $190,000 A Day by Strike

By the Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 31.—An economic loss of approximately $190,000 a day is expected to result in Oklahoma from the nationwide strike of miners, if the walk-out goes into effect at midnight tonight, as planned.

Ten thousand, five hundred Oklahoma miners will be thrown out of employment in Oklahoma's coal fields about Henryetta, McAlester, Coalgate and Okmulgee.

Outside of McAlester, which is reported to have about one week's supply of coal on hand, these districts have no reserve supply and the railroads and industries depending upon them for fuel will probably be forced to shut down.

Okmulgee county, which ranks with the McAlester district as a producer of coal, will lose a potential production of from 10,000 to 12,000 tons of coal per day for the period of the strike. Two thousand five hundred men, employed in the county's thirty-eight mines, will be idle.

Miners of coal county, according to reports reaching here, are preparing for a long strike. This county's daily output has been 2,500 tons and its mines employ 1,500 men.

About 4,000,000 tons of coal are mined annually in the McAlester district, where 2,500 miners are employed.

Smaller outside districts report 1,000 men to go out, with no reserve on hand.

WARNING AGAINST
USE OF SACCHARIN

IT IS UNHEALTHY AND SHOULD NOT BE USED AS SUGAR
SUBSTITUTE GOVERN-MENT WARNS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The use of saccharin in place of sugar which many housewives are being tempted to resort to in these days of sugar shortage, may involve menace to the health and therefore is to be condemned, according to specialists in the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. In most cases housewives have turned to this substance in their emergency, because they do not understand that saccharin is a harmful drug; to consider it a harmless healthful substitute for sugar is absolutely false, says the government's chemists.

The Department of Agriculture has received a number of inquiries from housewives in the last few days concerning the properties of saccharin, and in every case it has answered by condemning the use of the drug for cooking purposes. It calls attention to the fact that the Bureau of Chemistry is now aiding in the prosecution of a large St. Louis concern which makes saccharin for violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

"The attempt to exploit the shortage of sugar and create a demand for saccharin for the use in place of sugar endeavors to capitalize the public's lack of knowledge of the properties of this substitute and the Bureau of Chemistry feels called upon to reiterate the warnings which it has given repeatedly in its publications," said Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the bureau, who cites his testimony before a subcommittee of the senate's committee on agriculture a few days ago, on this same subject, as showing the extent of the present menace due to the public's not being properly informed.

"The department regards the use of saccharin in food as a menace to health," says Dr. Alsberg. "This is the position of the department today as it was in 1911, when official decisions were rendered. There has been no scientific evidence advanced on the basis of which the department could be justified in changing its position."

founded as the Socialist party is upon intellectual theory, for such parties attract the least stable and most adventurous of political thinkers. Theories are always open to different interpretations, and when they are not sufficiently controlled by the curb of experience they may expand prolifically in any and every direction.

The significance of the division that occurred during the recent convention at Chicago lies in the open emergence of a party or group that cannot be distinguished from the Bolsheviks of Russia—the Communist Labor party. They have chosen as their own the emblem of the soviet republic of Moscow; they have declared for the complete "dictatorship of the proletariat," and have excluded from recognition in the society they mean to create anyone who employs anyone else for wages, and most of those who labor with brain and not with hand.

The numbers of the new party are not as yet impressive; indeed, the entire Socialist party contains only forty-five thousand members, according to its latest enrollment. It casts more votes than that, of course, for it can always count on a certain support from the dissatisfied and restless, who find that an easy way to express their disapproval of things in general.

The Extreme Left, of which John Reed, a newspaper man who learned Bolshevism in Russia, Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, for years leaders of anarchism in the United States, and Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes are the chiefs, probably does not number ten thousand at present; but they are ten thousand determined and single-minded propagandists. Already their doctrines and their views of life are familiar to hundreds of thousands of men who have not the knowledge or the reasoning power to detect the fallacies and contradictions they contain. We must not make the mistake of being contemptuous of the Communists because they are few; the smallest amount of a virulent poison can spread until it corrupts the whole body. But by educating the people, by strengthening and cleansing our industrial fabric, by promoting justice and mutual consideration in all the relations of life we can build up a nation that is immune from the class-crazed extravagance of the Bolshevik and the Communist.

Attitude and the Job

Somewhere I have heard this story:

A passerby saw three workmen cutting stone where a cathedral was being built. He stopped and spoke with them.

"What are you doing?" he asked one.

"I am cutting this stone," was the answer. "I work four hours in the morning and four in the afternoon. That's my job. I'm a stonecutter."

"What are you doing?" the passerby asked the second workman.

"Me? I'm getting $6 a day," was the reply.

Then the inquirer asked the third workman the same question.

"What are you doing?"

The stonecutter looked up, and pointed to the rising walls of the edifice, replied:

"I am building this cathedral. All of which goes to show that the biggest part of your job is how you look at it."

It is not what you have to do; it is your attitude toward what you have to do that makes your work unbearable or delightful.

I asked a hard working business man last summer why he did not take a vacation; why he sent his wife and family away to the seaside, while he remained at his desk. With a whimsical smile he said, "To tell the honest truth, I don't go away on a vacation because I can't find anything anywhere else that is as much fun in my business."

Go and read Mark Twain's account of how Tom Sawyer made the other boys whitewash his fence for him, and you'll see what I mean. On as Tom made the boys look upon whitewashing a fence as fun, as a privilege, as something they would have to pay for if they wanted a chance to do it, he was able to collect the fees the boys paid to be allowed in the game. The secret is that, while it is hard, sometimes impossible, to change your job, it is always possible, sometimes easy, to change the way you look at it. "THE MIRACLE MAN"
HAILED AS PICTURE OF UNUSUAL MERIT

New Paramount-Artcraft Film
Has Most Powerful
Heart Appeal

Hailed by critics as one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced, the Paramount-Artcraft feature, "The Miracle Man" will be displayed at the Liberty theatre on Tuesday next. It is the screen version of George M. Cohan's play that scored so emphatically on Broadway some months ago, and which in turn was based on Frank L. Packard's famous novel. No picture in recent months has had so much praise lavished upon it for the dramatic quality of its story, its keen characterization, and beautiful photography.

The story of "The Miracle Man" centers around an old patriarch of the hills who has gained a reputation for his power to heal the sick and crippled. To him come a band of unscrupulous crooks from the slums of New York—Tom Burke, their leader; Rose, The Frog, and the Dope—who have conceived the scheme of capitalizing the healer's gift and taking the money for themselves.

What follows is one of the most absorbing stories ever unfolded on the screen. In the hands of such talented players as Thompson Meighan, Elinor Fair, Betty Compson, Lon Chaney, and W. Lawson Butts, the development of the chief characters under the influence of the deaf and blind patriarch is portrayed with admirable skill.

Cotton Price Hits Ceiling Wed;
Ardmore Pays 45c

ARDMORE, Okla., Oct. 31.—Cotton struck another price record Wednesday when semi-long staple sold on the streets of Ardmore at 45 cents a pound.

Of course this does not mean that all cotton sold at that price, for the prevailing price paid for average cotton on that date did not pass the 39-cent mark.

Carl Russell reports the sale of the high-price cotton as a sample of what may be done by farmers who will pay strict attention to securing and planting good seed.

The cotton was the Acola variety and was grown by G. C. Shaw, Tom Horton, W. A. Gillespy, all of Ardmore, and J. E. Murphy of Marsden. Mr. Russell says that his office, acting in conjunction with the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce, will lay in a supply of the seed of this cotton, which shows a lintage of 34 per cent, for the farmers of this county. This seed will be disbursed to all who want to try it, at the wholesale cost of same, plus carriage charges.

The county agent says that the Acola cotton shows a net yield of 20 per cent more than the Mebane and that it is of longer staple.

With the good prices which have prevailed throughout this season, the price paid for this cotton brought the farmer an average of $30 more per bale than was paid for any other variety of the staple.

German Gratitude

An illuminating picture of German gratitude appears in a group of anecdotes collected by Mr. Robinson Smith and published in the London World's Work. During the battle of Ermeton sur Biert, wrote the narrator, a Belgian, the Col. Count von Eulenburg, was seriously wounded at the door of our chateau. His men carried him to the ambulance that my sisters had established in the courtyard, and he remained there four days, after which he was evacuated to the lazaret of St. Gerard.

The day after his departure a great personage, covered with decorations down to his waist and surrounded by a brilliant staff came in a carriage and four to thank my sisters for the care they have given the illustrious count. On taking leave, with many bows, he perceived near the door, a stand in which we kept our walking sticks, two of which had gold knobs and were worth more than five louis apiece.

He chose the two from among the lot and said a word to his ordnance officer, who handed up a paper on which he had written, "Good for two sticks." They rode away in great pomp and dignity.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 9

PETER'S GREAT CONFESSION.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 16:13-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.—Matt. 16:16.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Mark 8:27-30;
Luke 9:18-22; John 6:68-69.
PRIMARY AND JUNIOR TOPIC—What
Peter confessed.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—What it means to confess Christ.
SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The Messiahship of Jesus.

The time has now come for the King to take account of his ministry.

This confession in some sense marks
the turning point in Christ's ministry.
Hereafter it is more restricted to his disciples. Two reasons are sufficient why this should be (vv. 1-12): (1)
The Pharisees and Sadducees show their attitude towards him in their demand for a sign. His answer is that none shall be given save that of his death and resurrection, as symbolized in the experiences of the Prophet Jonah. (2) The disciples show their inability to understand the spiritual nature of his teaching. When he warned them of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees they understood him to refer to bread, when he meant their doctrine. It was at this crisis when Christ turned from the nation which had rejected him, that Peter made this great confession. It was made in the borders of Caesarea-Philippi, practically Gentile territory.

1. Peter's Confession (vv. 13-16).

Two questions of Christ provoked this confession:

1. The question as to the opinion of the people concerning him.
They recognized him as a teacher or a prophet of more than human authority and power. Today, as then, there is a diversity of opinion among the people as to Jesus Christ. Some think he is only a man; others, that he is a great teacher, but nothing more. Had he been content with this he would not have been molested in Jerusalem, for the Jews willingly acknowledged him as more than a human teacher.
It was his persistent claim to be the God-man, the Son of God, that sent him to the cross.

2. The second question involved the personal opinion of the disciples concerning him. To be able to tell what others think of Jesus is not enough; there must be definite, correct, and personal belief in him.

11. The New Body, the Church, Announced (vv. 17-20).

Peter had made a noble confession of Christ, so now Christ confesses him.
If we confess Christ he will confess us (Matt. 10:32, 33). Christ declared his intention of bringing into existence a new body to the members of which he will give eternal life, and to whose hands he will entrust the keys of the Kingdom. Peter was to have a distinguished place in this body. The keys entrusted to him were used on the day of Pentecost, and again in the case of Cornelius. Association in this new body cannot be broken by death, for the gates of hades shall not prevail against it. This body, the church, is of a heavenly origin, a heavenly calling, and a heavenly inheritance.

111. The Cross the Way to the Throne (vv. 21-33).

This was, no doubt, startling to the disciples. They did not realize that redemption was to be accomplished through the passion of the cross. So unwelcome was this announcement that Peter cried, "This shall not be unto thee." Peter later saw through this darkness to the glory on the hilltop beyond. A new hope then filled his breast (1 Peter 1:3, 4). Victory through death is yet the stumbling block of many. Many are stumbling over the doctrine of salvation and redemption through the suffering of the cross. All such are under the control of the devil (v. 23). Salvation by blood, the devil hates.

IV. The Cost of Discipleship (vv. 24-27).

To follow Christ means suffering. To follow him is to turn one's back upon the world. Life can only be saved by losing it. If we are going to be Christians we must share Christ's suffering.
We cannot go to heaven on flowery beds of ease.

1. There must be denial of self (v.
24). There is a wide difference between self-denial and denial of self.
Self-denial is practiced everywhere by all people, but only the disciples of Christ or Christian people deny self.
Christ takes the place of self.

2. "Take up his cross." This cross is the suffering and shame which lie in the path of loyalty to God. To do our duty will mean suffering (2 Tim.
3:12).

3. Follow Christ. This means to have the mind of Christ, to do like Christ. All such shall be rewarded when Christ comes in glory.

Christian Character.

One truly Christian life will do more to prove the divine origin of Christianity than many lectures. It is of much greater importance to develop Christian character than to exhibit Christian evidences.—J. M. Gibson.

Our Life in God's Hands.
Happy and strong and brave shall we be—able to endure all things, and to do all things—if we believe that every day, every hour, every moment of our life is in God's hands.—Dr. Van Drke.

"PUBLIC BE DAMNED" WON'T GO IN ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 30.—

Approximately 4,000 soft coal miners and 150 mines with an annual production of 2,000,000 tons will be affected in Arkansas by the proposed coal strike called for Nov. 1.
The last official report of production in Arkansas shows 23,687 short tons, a small part of which was anthraxite coal. The market value of this coal was $7,777,080. The approximate amount of capital invested in Arkansas coal mines is $2-$96,600.

Lack of arbitration laws in Arkansas have prevented action from this source, but Gov. Charles H.
Brough, in a telegram to F. W.
Lutkins that he would not permit the policy of "the public be damned" to cause such a calamity as a coal strike, and that he would stand by the "president of the United States and all federal and state authorities" to prevent the strike.
Governor Brough also expressed the opinion that the better class of miners in the state would not sanction a strike at this time.

W. T. Satterfield, manager of the Southern States Coal Company, expressed the opinion Thursday morning that the anthracite miners would go out with the bituminous miners.

"To my mind Tanlac is the great-

"For two years," he continued, "I

"My wife read in the papers

Why Senators Talk

All our Senators are talkers.
Most of them are super-talkers.
Most of them, too, started out with the gift of gab. Without it, perhaps, they never would have become Senators. But it is not until they have been duly inducted into office and served their brief conventional notitiae of silence that they exhibit their astonishing capacity for oratorical Marathons. It is a taciturn, or, anyhow, a halting, Senator that can't babble away as endlessly as the running brook. An eight-hour speech is a trifling incident in the career of a Senator.
La Follette, for example, could just about whet his forensic knife in that period.

The New York Sun professes to be mystified about it. It wonders if there may not be something in the air of the Senate chamber that makes for volubility. Its speculations, we think, are wide of the mark. It is possible, of course, there is an unclassified germ of loquacity in the senatorial environment, but the explanation for the prolonged nonstop flights of the Senators, in our opinion, may be found in the doting attitude of the press. Just what would be the fate of a man who perpetrated a 10-hour speech, say in the unofficial realm of life, is not pleasant to contemplate and not difficult to perceive. A violent and deserved death would be his. But a Senator may pour out language from early morn to dewy eve and right around to the next sunburst, and instead of being denounced in terms appropriate to his crime, assuming that such terms had been invented, he is frequently lauded by the papers.

It is the puerile tolerance, in many instances the guilty connivance of the press that accounts for the garrulous frightfulness of our Senators. And possibly no journal has been more guilty on this score in recent days than has the esteemed Sun. The twang of Lodge, the rolling profundities of Borah, the tumbling torrents of Reed, the deep-based reverberations of Johnson, the attenuated gloom of Knox—the whole dreadful melange—has had an approved, applauded place in the Sun.

"THIS WAS A MAN"

That was a strange scene in congress Tuesday when the senators and representatives of the greatest of all republics stood up and cheered the King of the Belgians. Never before did a crowned head appear in congress to address the people's representatives. Remarkable was the warm applause with which the king was greeted.

But it was not a king that congress cheered. They were not affected by the glitter of a crown. It was a man that won the cheers of congress. No other crowned head of earth would have received the ovation that greeted King Albert. The legislators recognized a real man and cheered him as a man. They looked beyond the marble walls of the capitol and saw a murdered nation struggling in the shambles of war. They saw a man who happened to be a king leading a heroic people against overwhelming odds.

Some criticism has been directed against certain American cities because those cities have done honor to a king. The same criticism will now be directed against congress. And such criticism will be superlatively silly. America is big enough, broad enough, and brave enough to honor real men—whether a king of Belgium or a marshall of France. Democracy never suffers when it honors manhood. It only suffers when doing honor to a crown.

Germany will win. In spite of all the covenants and treaties and combinations and leagues of nations organized here or hereafter, Germany will win. The workers of Germany realizing the need for production and recognizing the peril that faces the Fatherland are voluntarily working fourteen hours a day. That is a combination that can never be beaten. When forty nations are suffering from universal ruin and nothing but quantity production can save their lives, the nation that produces to the maximum is the nation that will win. It is unpopular to say a good word for either Hun or devil, but Germany is today winning back in the factory what she lost in the field. While other nations are talking and planning, and conferring and striking, Heinie is putting in his best licks for fourteen hours a day. You can down a nation by outfighting it, but unless you work an equal number of hours, you cannot keep that nation down. Unless we go to work and keep at it, Germany will win.

There is not a man on earth or a class of men on earth who can make an honest living for self and family working only thirty hours a week. If such a class by controlling a commodity forces the price of that commodity high enough to maintain them in idleness, they are robbing someone else. A thirty-hour week for miners will almost double the price of coal. The increased cost of coal will appear in increased cost of shoes and clothing. The ultimate consumer will eventually pay the bill. Somewhere down among the cornfields and cotton fields men and women and children will be forced to put in extra time in order to support a class that will be working only half the time.

We have thought about this cost of living and the league of nations and national prohibition and the border raids and the exploits of Sergeant York and other things, and now we have reached a solution of the whole matter. If every man, woman, and child in the United States will go to work and work ten hours a day for the next six months, normal times will be restored. The extra hours of labor will fill vacant warehouses and coal bins and reduce the cost of living to a respectable and reasonable basis. If we were king, our first ukase would be for every one who works to put in ten hours a day. That is all this country needs in this so-called crisis. The old law "In the sweat of thy brow thou shalt eat bread" has never been repealed.

Are you willing to work a half hour extra six days in the week in order that coal miners may work only six hours a day for only five days in the week? Neither are we.

The era of universal content that was to follow the repeal of the daylight saving seems to have been delayed by a washout or blowout or something.

Three more nights like Monday night and our letter carriers will be traveling in submarines.

One strike we would heartily support would be a strike by the weather man.

Superintendent's Monthly Report. To the Board of Education, City of Ada, for July, August and September.

Hon. Board of Education, Ada, Oklahoma.

Gentlemen: I am submitting to you the following general report of the Ada city schools covering the first month of the current school year and the vacation months of July and August.

When the schools closed for the spring term in May, although the year had been unprecedented in interruptions, on a whole the school situation was good though far from satisfactory. I give for your information the following summary of the superintendent's annual report to your honorable body and to the State Board of Education. There were 37 teachers employed in the elementary grades during the year, 35 of whom were females and 2 males. In the High School there were 11 teachers employed, 8 of whom were females and 3 males. The school term consisted of 165 days out of a total of 180, the greatest loss of time being due to the suspension on account of the flu epidemic. The total whites scholastic enumeration for the district for the year was 1068 boys, 1328 girls, a total of 2396. The total enrollment for the year was 1006 boys, 1091 girls, a total of 2097. It appears therefore, that there were 299 children in the district who were not enrolled in the public schools during the year. A part of this number was enrolled at the Normal. The others were likely transient or pupils that escaped the vigilance of the truant officer. In the elementary grades the average daily attendance was 556.7 girls, 632.3 boys. In the High School the average daily attendance was 54.3 boys, and 83.4 girls. The total average daily attendance was 1326.7. In the elementary grades the percent of attendance was 2.9; in the High School 66.5. The average annual cost per pupil in the elementary grades was $17.83; in the High School $82.16. The average monthly salary paid grade teachers was $74.86, and the average monthly salary paid High School teachers was $118.18. There were 18 graduates from the High School, consisting of 7 boys and 11 girls. There were 132 promotions to the High School from the ward schools of the city. Of this number there were 37 boys and 95 girls.

The session of the summer school was successful in every particular and accomplished the results for which it was instituted. The work was in charge of Mrs. Bullock and was thoroughly done during the full term of 10 weeks. At the close of the term, eighth grade certificates were awarded to 30 girls and 9 boys. By this arrangement these pupils were able during the summer months to complete this half year's work and enter the High School in September. They will have the opportunity to be regular in their High School work for the full term of four years.

During the summer months extensive improvements have been made at the High School building. Two additional rooms have been provided by moving the toilets from the large room they formerly occupied to the small rooms in the center of the building. This change, at a cost of $291.00, has given us two splendid rooms for domestic science and for manual training and has not in any way interfered with toilet accommodations. Hot and cold shower baths have been provided for both boys and girls at a cost of $247.05. A room has been provided also for the library and library furniture for the most part made by the manual training department has been installed. The library itself has been increased by the addition of some 400 volumes. These books have been catalogued and are now available for use in the various departments of the High School. The library is in charge of Mrs. Cutler, who directs the reading of the pupils and tales care of all books. Much needed equipment has been provided in the manual training, the domestic science and the commercial departments. In addition to these improvements, the department of agriculture has been added under the provision of the Smith Hugh's Act and Mr. R. L. Potter has been employed as head of that department at a salary of $2000.00 a year. $1333.00 of which will be paid by the government. The domestic economy department has also received recognition and under the provisions of this act 40 percent of the teacher's salary will be paid by the government. This is a recognition based solely upon merit and we have just reasons to be proud of this recognized standing of our school. Great opportunity is open to the agricultural department to serve this whole community in a practical way. The ward schools have been repaired and renovated.

I wish to commend to you the splendid spirit and the interest manifested by some of the teachers who have during the summer months given both of their time and their labor to the school without any thought of remuneration. I mention this fact because I feel that these teachers deserve special consideration for their loyalty and for their interest in the school work.

I wish to state that it is evident now that the new school building will not be adequate even for the current school year. Without presuming upon your interest in the matter I wish to urge that steps be taken at a very early date toward the building of a ward school on the lots you have already purchased for that purpose. There is no doubt about the need of this building now if the actual enrollment in this district is to be taken care of. If this school community were to give every child of school age in it a seat and adequate school room at least two additional school buildings would have to be constructed within the next year. I believe this school community is obligated to give every child in it the advantages of a public school education. As an evidence of the necessity existing now for additional room, I cite you to the following report of the various schools for the month closing October 10th:

School	Boys	Girls	Total
Irving	117	158	275
South Ward	207	226	433
Glenwood	150	138	288
Willard	198	201	399
Separate	33	35	68
High School	115	173	288

Total $20 931 1751

The enrollment for the corresponding period of last year was 727 boys, 822 girls, total 1549. There has been, therefore, an increase in enrollment of 202 over that of the first month of last year. To take care of this increase in enrollment necessitates at least five teachers more than were required last year. Fifty percent of this increase is in the High School enrollment in which is nearly 100 more than the total enrollment of last year. I think this is a splendid showing of the growth of the High School spirit in the town. The High School spirit is never better and prospects are very encouraging for decidedly the best years' work in the history of that department. I believe I may add that the indications are very favorable for the best school year in all departments. As a splendid index to this outside the school room I find patrons interested and responsive, and I find the Mothers' Clubs of the various schools actively engaged in reorganization and in making their plans for the year's work.

At this beginning of the school year I wish to assure you that I shall do all within my power to promote the school interests of the city. I feel that I have your unanimous support in all matters pertaining to the good of the school and that I can at all times depend upon you.

Respectfully submitted,
J. E. HICKMAN.

PAUL ALTHOUSE

The recent sensational rise of Paul Althouse in the world of music will always remain an incentive to young American singers. He had only just won his first success as a concert singer on the Festival Tour of the New York Symphony Orchestra under Walter Damrosch's direction when he was engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Without stage experience of any kind he spent the summer preceding the opening of the opera season in studying the technique of the stage and acquiring an operatic repertoire. Unlike most of the young singers of the Metropolitan, who are obliged to serve a long apprenticeship before being intrusted with important parts, Mr. Althouse was selected to create in America the leading tenor role of Boris Godunov. His truly sensational success as "Dimitri" is now a matter of history and as a result he was selected to create the part of the "Duke" in Victor Herbert's opera "Madeleine" a part in which he duplicated his previous success. In Strauss' "Rosencavalier" also the critics were unanimous in their praise for his splendid singing and dramatic art.

In addition to his operatic triumphs, Paul Althouse has been heard in concert in practically every important city of the United States and everywhere has scored with his beautiful voice and wholesome personality. He has appeared with the New York Symphony Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic and many other of the leading orchestras of the country. So many writers and critics have united in praise of the Althouse voice that their enthusiasm no longer excites wonder—his position as one of the few leading tenors either concert or operatic of this country is secure.

Paul Althouse will appear at the Normal auditorium next Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. At Saloniki.

The veritable mountains of relief supplies turned out by the millions of chapter workers during the war made the American Red Cross one of the biggest "manufacturing concerns" in the world, with great warehouse space at scores of strategic points all around the globe.

One of the biggest distribution centers was at Saloniki, Greece, and in this picture Bulgarian prisoners of war are seen there unloading a Red Cross cargo of 2,300 boxes from a French transport. At the right is seen one of the American Red Cross camions, fleets of which were used in rushing relief to points where the suffering was greatest.

RED CROSS GIVES FULL ACCOUNTING

War Council Tells How Millions Contributed by Public Were Used For Relief.

BIG TASK IS DESCRIBED

In Twenty Months $154,000,000 Was Spent Overseas and $119,000,000 in the United States.

Washington. (Special).—Through a complete report of the work of the American Red Cross in the war by Chairman Henry P. Davison, on behalf of the war council, the organization on the eve of its annual enrollment of members during the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, has rendered an accounting of the many millions given it by the American people to help our fighting men and our allies. The statement is, in part, as follows:

"The war council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the war council was in control of its affairs. The war council was appointed May 10, 1918, and went out of existence February 22, 1919.

"It was the practice of the war council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the war council that a report in this summarized form should be made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

"A statement of the American Red Cross effort and finances since the war council relinquished its control to the executive committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that this report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted."

Following are certain round figures covering American Red Cross participation in the war, as revealed by the war council's report:

Concerning the Care of Silk Hosiery.

Merchants inform their customers, with good reasons, that the price of raw silk is likely to advance. There may be no shortage of it but the demand has increased immensely. Silk has replaced much of the cotton formerly used in many things that women wear, as hosiery, undergarments and blouses, and much raw silk has been diverted to these new channels, where silk garments are in ever-increasing demand. It is said that women will pay any price for silk and nothing tempts them to extravagance more surely than silk hosiery. But it has reached a price now that puts it almost beyond the reach of the woman of limited means and good judgment. The care of silk stockings is a matter to be concerned about and those who manufacture them and merchants who sell them recommend that women be informed as to means of prolonging their service.

It is said perspiration, dust and stain from shoe linings are the chief enemies of silk hosiery. Therefore a pair of silk hose should not be worn a second time without washing. Also they should be washed very soon after they are worn and not allowed to wait for a regular wash day to arrive. Some women wash their silk hose every time they wear them. For washing use warm water and bland soap. Dry indoors but not by artificial heat. Never place silk hose on steam radiators to dry them.

Anything that breaks a thread is fatal to silk hose, therefore they should be put on carefully so that the fine threads will not be strained. Roll down to the heel and insert the foot, then pull the stocking carefully on, avoiding undue strain when bringing it over the foot. Rings which catch and break threads will ruin any hose and before inserting the hand in a stocking rings having sets should be removed or turned so that threads will not be caught.

Stocking supporters should never be fastened below the garter band or drawn too tightly. If very tight a bend of the knee may break threads from too much strain. They wear much longer at the toe if bought in a half size larger than cotton hose and toe nalls need to be kept short. The friction of tight skirts with silk hosiery wears it quickly. Rough places in shoes, as eyelets, buckles and laces sometimes are to blame for the apparent poor wearing quality of silk hose because these catch and break threads.

In hosiery as in shoes and other things, several pairs, worn in rotation, prolong the service of each pair. Also, it is better to darn them whenever a thin place foretells a hole than to wait until they are worn through.

Some women say that all silk hosiery should be washed before it is even worn at all; whether this strengthens it or not, it cannot do any harm to try it. It is essential that warm water and bland soap be used instead of very hot water and ordinary laundry soap.

There is no particularly good reason for wearing silk hosiery with high shoes, if expense must be considered, especially in the winter time. But nothing can take the place of silk stockings with low shoes and slippers.

Fall Blouses Are Different

Along with other of our apparel for every day wear blouses have slipped into more elaborate styles than have characterized them for several seasons. Just now they reflect the rich and glorious colors of autumn foliage and presage a cheerful winter. Georgette crepe remains the favorite material for making them, and its texture robs the bright glowing colors used of any garishness. It has a refinement of its own to lend to any color. Another style feature of the new fall blouses is the persistence of peplums on them, and still another is the combination of two colors of georgette in one blouse. Also there is a choice between several neck finishings. One may have a high, straight collar that buttons up the front or side, a rolling collar, a small sailor or cape collar or the round or "V" shaped, plain neck finish, without any collar. The smock made a great success in the summer, and hence the great number of blouses with peplums or short skirts. One of these is shown in the picture above, and be not dismayed if your dealer shows it to you in a vivid nasturtium red or gold, or a warm purple or flashing turquoise blue. Make up your mind to array yourself like the lily of the field—or find your self tamely appareled at 11g with more brilliant sisters who follow the trend of the mode.

The blouse pictured is embellished with embroidery, or more properly needle work, employing two colors, one of them black and the other matching the blouse. This touch of black tones down many a bright color in blouses. This blouse is gathered in at the waist line and a narrow ribbon, to match it serves for a girdle. It is a slip-over model, which necessitates an elastic band for the waistline, unless it is provided with a casing having a ribbon run through it. The elastic band is more convenient and the girdle wears better when it is made to hook or snap together under a bow at the ends.

A WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE

If some club or organization in the city would like an afternoon of REAL PLEASURE, we can think of nothing greater than a little sunshine to live where there is little but sadness and sorrow.

There will be needed soon two layettes, one by a young wife whose husband was discharged with tuberculosis. He has been brave and tried to work, but this dread disease has become his master and the young man is no longer able to do remunerative work.

The other case in question is an unfortunate girl of 18 years, who has had neither father nor mother since she was 11 years old. We feel that cases like these are worthy of mention as well as many others we might mention. Any one interested may phone Mrs. Orville Snead, 816, Red Cross headquarters.

Mr. Bressler, a representative of the Federal Vocational Board, at Washington, was in to make arrangements for a meeting Nov. 20 and 21, at which time an examining board will be here who will pass on all cases and complete arrangements for the boys who are eligible for vocational training.

Mrs. Snead spent the greater part of the day Sunday getting letters out to the disabled boys, thinking Mr. Bressler would be in position to give them definite information.

Despite the rain, 15 boys responded. The board has grouped four counties with headquarters at Ada. Representatives from other chapters were, Mrs. Jack Merchant, Coalgate; Miss Geraldine Saddle, Tishomingo; and Mr. Otis H. Presson, Atoka.

The following boys were present: John Reed, Stratford; G. W. Willis, Stratford; Virgil Morris, Stratford; H. F. Anderson, Ada; Henry A. Quinlan, Stratford; R. W. Womack, Stratford; Clarence Billings, Stone-wall; Sam McKinney, Stonewall; G. S. Hampton, Fitzhugh; Jason Neal, Frisco; H. W. Brown, Ada; Buster Anderson, Ada; Phillip Richmond, Ada; Millard Ford, Ada; J. T. Woods, Ada.

How to Harvest Peanuts.

The continued wet weather makes things look gloomy for the peanut farmer, but if he will only use a little business ability in the harvesting and stacking of the nuts he will save all of the worry and nearly all of the loss that comes from wet weather.

Peanuts that are dug or pulled and stacked around a pole one layer deep and capped off properly will keep for weeks, regardless of the weather. I have seen even wet vines stacked that way that would drain and dry out and not only cure the nuts to bring the best price but cure the hay also so that it would be bright and sweet. There will be from 10c to 15c per bushel difference in the price of nuts when put on the market caused solely by the way they are harvested and cured. The hay is an important item in the saving of peanuts as it ranks along with alfalfa in feeding value.

The difference in the cost of properly taking care of the nuts and the loose way in which the slack farmer usually does things is very little, although the difference in the market value will be great. When 50 bushels of nuts and 3-4 of a ton of hay per acre are produced it takes but little loss on either the nuts or the hay to make the difference in the cost of doing the work in the right way.

Peanuts is the most valuable crop that can be planted on much of our sandy land, but to make them pay from a commercial standpoint they must be handled properly. Pontotoc county can easily produce 200 cars of peanuts in addition to the other crops that are being produced. This would justify a mill to be located at some convenient place to manufacture these nuts into shelled nuts for confectionery purposes, or for peanut butter, which is rapidly growing in popularity. The farmer should never pile his nuts in the field but stack them and get the best results.

Eve had formed the bad habit of running away, so to impress her fully with the danger of so doing, her father took her on his knee and told her the story of Charlie Ross—how he was coaxed away from his yard one day by a man who promised him some candy and he never came back to his parents. She listened intently, and at the close of the story she looked up and asked: "Well, did he get the candy?"

Plushes That Rival Furs

The production of furs appears to lag a long way behind the demand for them if one can judge by prices they bring today as compared to those of three or four years ago. In the past year price and real value appear to have little relation in fur garments; the most plentiful of pelts, undyed and undisguised in any way, are made up into garments that are as expensive as good and substantial furs ought to be. Really good furs have soared up and away until they have passed beyond the horizon for the woman of modest income. It was inevitable that plushes should forge ahead at the same time but in them real value and price go hand in hand as they should. Plushes have been made to imitate furs very closely in a group known as fur fabrics and they are used for all garments that are made of fur. A good plush is much to be preferred to a poor fur from almost any point of view. It is just as warm, it looks better and wears better. Furs have been very closely imitated in these substantial fabrics.

A short cape-like coat of moleskin plush, also a wide scarf of duvetyne made up with this fur fabric, and a hat to match, invite consideration as shown in the picture above. The coat does away with sleeves and substitutes for them pointed pieces that give it the effect of a cape. There is a full shawl collar and a belt that slips through slashes at the back and front where it fastens with a buckle. This model has the easy lines of a cape, is graceful and may be worn slipping off the shoulders. When its warmth is needed and it is belted in it sets close to the figure.

This season has witnessed the return of long, wide scarfs to favor along with a great variety of other neckpieces. Fur fabric and duvetyne are combined to make the ample scarf pictured above long enough to protect the chest, encircle the throat and fall over the shoulder. The scarf is the most easily adjusted of neckpieces and admits of several ingenious arrangements. The clever hat to match suggests the popular Napoleon shape and is trimmed with an ornament made of ostrich feathers that looks like a flat tassel. It has the approved drooping pose at the side.

East Oklahoma Conference.
The seventy fourth session of the East Oklahoma Conference will open next Wednesday morning, Nov. 5, at nine o'clock, in Sapulpa. Bishop Edwin D. Mounzon is the president and is a man of recognized ability both in the pulpit and in the administration of the affairs of the church.

The First Methodist Church of Ada will be represented in this conference by its retiring pastor, J. L. Adair, Robert Bradley, and Col. R. E. Haynes. Mr. Adair is a member of the Mission Board and works with one of its most important committees. Col. Haynes is a member of the Commission of Finance, of which the pastor, Dr. Crutchfield, is chairman. The pastor of the local church is also chairman of the Board of Church Extension and the State-wide Educational Commission.

When Ada is called upon for a report at Sapulpa next week, the report to be handed in by the pastor will show that there have been more members received than in any other church in the conference and twice as many people baptized as any church in East Oklahoma. In matters of finance Ada is to be rated with three or four great churches in the conference. The Ada News trusts that the Bishop and his cabinet may see fit to return the retiring pastor, Rev. Wallace M. Crutchfield, to this field of labor for another year.

LOAFERS SUPPORT BONUS HEAVY DRAG

UNSKILLED MEN OF PEACE TIMES RECEIVE MORE FOR IDLENESS THAN FOR WORK.

By the Associated Press
BERLIN. (By Mail).—The "workless support" bonus that thousands upon thousands of men and women now are drawing in Berlin and Germany is proving a heavy drain on the treasury—and it is charged that the bonus is so high that many men who in peace times were unskilled workmen now receive more pay for idleness than if they went back to their labor.

Begun under the stress of the revolution and with the intention of temporarily alleviating distress, complaint is made that this bonus system has become a deeply imbedded cancer that sucks millions from the government that can ill afford it.

The number of persons idle in Berlin during August was nearly a million. It is estimated that 750,000 of them do not want work because they are being supported by the state and are free to carry on the illegitimate pursuits of the unlicensed street dealer, the fly-by-night gambler, the soap and cigarette vendor.

The streets and squares of Berlin where people congregate most are, despite occasional attempts of the police, swarming hives of humanity, selling or buying poor soap, wretched matches, immoral postcards and indecent literature, and cigarettes that are sold at ridiculous prices, especially in the case of American cigarettes which now glut the market. Recently the police have begun to raid these vendors.

The first "razzia" as such raids are called, was unexpected, and so many dealers were captured that they had to be sent to collection points and then were transferred from there to the various police stations. The confiscated food and goods required auto trucks for its transportation.

Roulette and little gambling games played on a tiny board that can be hastily concealed as the crowd scatters on the approach of the police, still attract more workless than other strata of the population—because the workless have time to kill, and money to spend and likewise the strong inclination to spend.

One of the most unpleasant features of Berlin street life is the array of wounded soldiers, suffering from broken or missing legs and arms, shell shock or alleged shell shock, who sit forlornly on the principal street and manipulate a violin or a harmonica. With hands and features that tremble these relics of the war beg from morning until long after midnight. Their "music" is always harrowing.

A one-legged man with the face of a criminal, dirty to the last degree, with a rough, unkempt beard, seems to have no difficulty with the police, as he hobbles up and down Unter den Linden, positively insulting passersby, especially women. He fastens on them, often holds them by the arms, and demands, not begs, alms. Countless policemen pass up and down, but the man is always there.

The police no sooner put down one gambling club or street gambler than the passion breaks out elsewhere. Thus recently, in lieu of some cheap clubs, a round table is widely used as a race track for six tiny automobiles.

The letter of a business man of Berlin telling of his experiences when trying to get some repairs made on his house is commented on here as typical of the spirit of dislike of work that prevails in Germany since the revolution. He writes:

"I intended to have my house repaired and therefore sought a workman who before the war had done little things for me. I did not find him at his house. Only his 7-year-old boy was there.

"Where is your father?" I asked.

"He is selling cigarettes on the Potsdamer Platz," the youngster replied.

"And your mother?"

"She is selling soap at the Anhalter railroad station."

"Well, is no one else here?"

"No, my big brother has gone to collect the workless support for father."

A Knowing Dog

A man who had patiently listened to some anecdotes of canine sagacity cleared his throat and related this remarkable story:

There was a dog that made a practice of taking an afternoon nap on his master's bed. Having been chastised for displaying such poor manners, he resorted to the trick of jumping down when he heard steps approaching and of stretching out on the floor with an affected air of innocence. One day a hand placed on the bed revealed the warm place where he had been lying and established his guilt.

The next time his master entered the room he found the dog with his forepaws on the bed blowing on the spot where he had been lying—to cool it.

LINCOLN DOES DANGEROUS SCENES IN "VIRTUOUS MEN"

E. K. Lincoln, star of "Virtuous Men," the Ralph Ince Film Attraction which will be presented by Manager McSwain, which opens next Monday at the Liberty Theatre, was called upon to do many hazardous scenes during the production of the picture. The story, a big society melodrama teeming with action, contains innumerable spectacular scenes.

A tremendous forest fire, in which the torch was actually placed by Director Ralph Ince to an enormous tract of land embracing hundreds of huge trees, requiring Lincoln in the role of the hero, to lead a brigade of fire fighters against the flaming forest.

The star of "Virtuous Men" declined with thanks an offer to have one of the seasoned lumberjacks "double" in this work for him. In company with Danny Hayes, who interprets the role of "Hick" Hogan, and a band of real lumberjacks, Lincoln leads the attack on the burning forest, working steadily for several hours while a battery of six cameras secured the realistic scenes from many angles.

While enacting these scenes, the leading figure of "Virtuous Men" was in constant danger from the fast-moving flames, enduring a heat which severely scorched many of the lumbermen. Lincoln himself suffered painful burns of the hands and arms. The spectacular and impressive results secured through this effort on the part of Ince and Lincoln are said to be worthy of their strenuous work, and will more than satisfy the patrons of the Liberty Theatre when they witness "Virtuous Men."

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT possesses that power. Rubbed in where the pain is felt it is all that is necessary to relieve suffering and restore normal conditions. Sold by Bart Smith. adv

UNION MINERS' OFFICERS ENJOINED FROM STRIKE

from conducting the strike might be asked. The latter plan probably would be the most productive of results, inasmuch as any such action would prevent the strike leaders from using many of the facilities for conducting the strike. Such an order might prevent the disposal of the monthly benefit funds, which officials say exceeds $15,000,000, and prohibits the holding of meetings of miners and the leaders the use of the mails and wires for the transmission of orders and announcements incidental to the strike.

Southwestern Situation.

By the Associated Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31.—Whether the governors of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas would be able to bring about the acceptance of a proposal by the Southwest Inter-State Coal Operators Association, that the miners of the southwest remain at work pending the negotiation of a new contract and a wage scale and thus prevent the strike order from becoming effective at midnight, was a matter of conjecture here today. In view of the statement last made by John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Alexander Howet, president of the Kansas miners, that the proposal was unacceptable, the next move in the situation was in doubt today. The operators suggest that action in the Southwest be independent of that in any other district, and many officials were hopeful that a solution would be found, despite the fact the report here indicated for carrying out the strike order.

By the Associated Press
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 31.—Twenty-five hundred of the 25,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America, in District 15, comprising the coal fields of Colorado, New Mexico and Utah, were to answer the coal strike call at midnight tonight, according to figures made public by H. C. Stewart, district secretary of the union. Four thousand employed in twenty-eight mines of Colorado are exempted from the strike order, he said, because they are working under contract which has not yet expired.

THE FRIGATE BIRDS.

"How-do-you-do, Golden Plummer," said Mr. Frigate Bird. "Can't you stop?" But the bird flew on for he had an engagement with his mate.

"Oh, well," said Mr. Frigate Bird. "I do not mind if he will not talk, for I have things to talk about. I heard the other day that there were insects who feel and who see and who smell things near at hand. We can do those things, too."

"But I also heard that different ones had different ways. I was told that and I was supposed to be surprised, but I know about insects, most certainly I do."

"I guess birds are pretty well up on the subject," said Mrs. Frigate Bird.

"On what subject?" asked Mr. Frigate Bird. "Do you mean, my love, up on the subject of air, up on the subject of clouds, or up on the subject of high branches of trees?"

"I mean none of those things," said Mrs. Frigate Bird. "though we are up on all of those, or in all of those very, very often. But I mean birds are pretty well up on the subject of insects."

"To be sure, to be sure," said Mr. Frigate Bird.

"It is the same way with people," said Mrs. Frigate Bird, "or that is, I suppose it is."

"What do you mean?" asked Mr. Frigate Bird.

"I mean that people know a great deal about food. When they come out into the vegetable garden they know what they want for dinner and what they want for supper, and they know when they go into the barnyard that they want eggs for breakfast."

"They know when they go to market what they want. They know all sorts of things about the kinds of food which they eat."

"And so do we. Therefore, I say we are up on the subject of insects and bugs, and so are all birds. We know which ones taste well for breakfast, which we like best for dinner and which we do not eat for supper."

"What do you mean when you say there are kinds which we do not eat for supper?" asked Mr. Frigate Bird.

"I mean those which we especially love for supper, which we just like so much we can hardly tell how much. In fact, we do not eat them, do you see?" "I understand," said Mr. Frigate Bird.

"I must say," continued Mrs. Frigate Bird, "that I care more for the insects which are good to eat and I care more for the fact that they are good to eat than I do care what their family history may be."

"So do I," said Mr. Frigate Bird. "I suppose it is the same way with children and with grownups," said Mrs. Frigate Bird. "They probably don't care to know the family history of a cabbage for example, or a head of lettuce, but a cabbage or a head of lettuce may be very nice as part of a meal."

"What Do You Mean?"

"What a wise bird you are," said Mr. Frigate Bird proudly.

"Thank you for the compliment," said Mrs. Frigate Bird.

"We are very famous for something," said Mr. Frigate Bird.

"What?" asked Mrs. Frigate Bird.

"We can eat a thing while it is falling—that is we can catch something which is dropping—go down and catch it while it is still falling, and so make it fall into our beaks."

"Ah, yes, we can do that," said Mrs. Frigate Bird. "Is that making us famous?"

"It has something to do with our fame," said Mr. Frigate Bird. "People think that is an interesting thing about us."

"I am glad they do," said Mrs. Frigate Bird. "But the interesting thing to me is that we actually eat the things and can taste them and enjoy them and swallow them and still have beautiful thoughts of our nicely-filled tumblers."

"That, of course," said Mr. Frigate Bird, "is the most important thing. Still it is nice to be famous for something which gives us such great pleasure."

"That is nice," agreed Mrs. Frigate Bird.
